

ABSTRACT

5 A peak detector for detecting a peak signal includes an input circuit to input an input signal, a track and hold circuit to hold the input signal and to output the peak signal, a comparator to compare the input signal and the peak signal to generate a clock signal, and said track and hold circuit to output the peak signal in accordance with the clock signal.

continued